WEIRD TORTURE BEFALLS YOUTH AT PLAY IN BATH HOUSE AT SEASIDE PARK

Like a torture from the days of the thumb-screw was the experience of Michael Baker, a lad living at 18 Caroline street at the public bathhouse at Seaside park yesterday.

Young Baker running with his hands in the air, struck the ring finger of his left hand against a radiator from which a spike protruded. The spike entered the ring, and Baker was brought to a sudden stop, caught by the finger.

Creeching himself with difficulty, young Baker found his finger cut to the bone and the ring bent out of shape. The hammering of the ring back to such a shape that it could be torn from his finger was more than he could bear and he collapsed.

Dr. Krause took him to the emergency hospital in the ambulance and sewed the mangled digit with seven stitches.

HARRY WHITNEY SAILS FOR ARCTIC HUNTING

Boston, June 20.—Carrying a bountiful supply of trinkets and gumdrops for the Igloo dwellers of the frozen north, the steamer Beothic, chartered by Harry Whitney of New Haven, Conn., and Paul J. Rainey of Cleveland, Ohio, for a hunting expedition in the Arctic, sailed from South Boston yesterday.

Flags were flying and whistles saluted from most of the craft in the harbor, as the Beothic swung into the channel under the command of Captain Robert Bartlett, who made the trip with Peary.

Speculation as to whether Mr. Whitney would attempt to reach the records alleged to have been left by Dr. Frederick A. Cook at Etah, remained unsatisfied by the last word of Captain Bartlett, who said with a smile: "He probably will not bother to take the time to hunt up Cook's records."

FIREMAN SHUGRUE BREAKS DOWN FROM WORRY OVER NEW HAVEN JAIL FIRE

New Haven, June 20.—Connie Shugrue, the fireman who was badly injured in the recent jail fire and who saved himself from death only by the heroic efforts of the command of Captain St. Raphael hospital, suffering from a complete nervous breakdown, Shugrue has only been out of the hospital a short time and on duty a few days. In the recent shake up of the department, he was shifted to Company No. 1, and was to drive for Fire Marshal Perkins.

He started on his new duties Saturday and was apparently all right. Yesterday morning while working at house No. 1, he developed surprising symptoms and it was found necessary to take him to the hospital at once. He practically lost control of himself and was delirious. The men of the house had quite a time with him, but finally got him into the ambulance.

His mental derangement will only be temporary, it is believed. His condition is supposed to be the result of brooding on the jail fire in which six of his companions lost their lives. Shugrue was with Captain Chapman and the other firemen who were killed in the time of the explosion which caused a spread of the flames and finally resulted in their death. He saved himself by jumping over the side of the building to the ground about one hundred feet below. He was picked up more than half an hour after his jump, badly burned and battered and bruised.

NORMAL SCHOOL EXERCISES IN B. H. S. HALL

For the first time since the Bridgeport training school for teachers has been known as the City Normal school, the commencement exercises of that institution will be held in the assembly hall of the local high school. The date scheduled for the event is Tuesday evening, June 28th, at eight o'clock.

Dr. X. Snyder, President of the State Normal school at Greeley, Colorado, will deliver the address to the graduates, and the young ladies of the school will supplement the program with vocal music under the direction of Miss Cora M. Purviance. The presentation of diplomas will be made by Superintendent Deane.

The graduating class comprises: Katherine Rebecca Beardsley, Margaretta Lucille Buchanan, Sadie Hannah Caldwell, Agnes Elizabeth Collins, Leonida Margaret Corcoran, Irene May Decker, Anna Jane Dorsey, Julia Cecile Fagnan, Anna Lorine Finley, Edna Evelyn Goodwin, Elsie Louise Hegeman, Anna Loretta Judge, Christine Estelle Macdonald, Margaret McGarry, Anna Gertrude McNamara, Ethel May Newell, Bessemy O'Connell, Lina Bessie Oelmer, Frances Wilhelmina Reid, Sadie Rosenthal, Mable Thorpe Thomas and Anna Elizabeth Toohy.

COL. COE, SUPERINTENDENT OF SOLDIERS HOME DEAD

Noroton, June 20.—Colonel James H. Coe, superintendent of the Pitch Home for Soldiers, died at his residence at the Home on Noroton Heights, yesterday, after an illness of nearly a year.

Colonel Coe was born in Winsted on October 20, 1837, being 73 years old at the time of his death. He served as a sergeant in Co. F, Second Regiment, Connecticut Volunteers, from April 23 to August 7, 1861; he again enlisted in the 19th Regiment, Connecticut, and served in the famous battle of the Marston, where he was wounded in the arm.

He was appointed superintendent of the Pitch Home for Soldiers, which was then known as the Second Conn. Heavy Artillery, July 10, 1862, receiving a commission on February 23, 1864, and to Captain of Co. H, February 19, 1865, being mustered out of service (at the close of the war), August 18, 1865. During this period he served as acting assistant superintendent of the Pitch Home for Soldiers, August 19th, 1861, which position he most ably filled until the 23rd day of April, 1910, when suffering from a long and severe illness, from which he felt he could never recover sufficiently to perform the duties of his office, he tendered to the board of directors a resignation of his position, which after due consideration was accepted. From a small and poorly equipped institution, he had built up the Home to one of the finest of its kind in the country and his place will be hard to fill. Before his appointment to the superintendency of the Home, Col. Coe held a responsible position with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad in New Haven.

A PRETTY WEDDING.

Miss Nell Becomes Bride of Mr. Walter Scott Dearolf.

A pretty wedding took place Saturday evening, at 6 o'clock, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Neff, 136 Main street, when their daughter, Jennie May, was united to Walter Scott Dearolf, of Reading, Pa. The ceremony was performed under a bower of palms by Rev. Mr. Cooper of the First English Lutheran church. As the couple entered the parlor the wedding march from "Lohengrin" was played by Charles W. Neff of Beverly, Mass., a brother of the bride. The bride was charmingly gowned in a costume of white tulle, trimmed with all lace, and carried a bouquet of bride roses. Miss Natalie Neff DeRiek, a niece of the bride, was bridesmaid.

The parlor was profusely decorated with red and white flowers. The ceremony was performed in the presence of only the immediate families of the bride and groom. After the ceremony a wedding supper was served. The happy couple departed on the 9:36 train for New York, and points of interest up the Hudson river.

The bride was the recipient of many handsome presents, consisting of cut glass, linen, china, and other articles, the gift from the groom being a pearl brooch, and a gold watch from her brother, Charles W. Neff.

ALDERMAN O'CONNELL SURPRISED WITH GIFT FROM K. OF C. FRIENDS

As a mark of appreciation of his interest in the welfare of the Knights of Columbus, friends of Alderman J. M. O'Connell took advantage of the large gathering of Knights of Columbus in the chapter rooms yesterday afternoon prior to the parade of St. Patrick's church, to present him with a handsome emblematic charm.

Edward F. Nevin, former clerk of the Board of Charities, now Charlesman for Vincent Bros. made the speech of presentation. He called Mr. O'Connell before a gathering of brothers and Knights and with a brief but effective speech tendered Mr. O'Connell the K. of C. charm.

Though taken completely unaware, Alderman O'Connell was not without his usual ready wit and he responded appropriately.

THE STOCK MARKET

(Watson, Alpers & Co.) It may require some new feature to turn the balance of the stock market in any pronounced direction but it is well to consider that the new development to prove favorable it would exert its influence on a situation bare of floating supplies of shares and resting on foundations of more strength than receives credit in the present mood of the Street.

The Harm of Damp Houses.

It is dangerous to health and even to life in a damp, moldy house or one built over a muddy cellar. Many years ago the London Lancet in an article on diphtheria traced the disease in certain cases to the presence of certain molds and fungoid growths which seemed to be breathed into the throat. Remember, one of the best disinfectants is lime. Moldy clothes, such as shoes and other articles that are unfit for use, should be destroyed at once.

Why He Applauded.

"Not particularly," replied the young man frankly, "but I am extremely fond of the musician."

Out of Her Reach.

"Does your heart ever reach out for the unattainable?" "No, but my hands do when my husband is not at home. There are three buttons at the back of my gown that I can't reach."

More Appropriate. "I teach my parrot only short words."

"Do you?" Now, I should think that parrots were better adapted to learning polysyllables."

PRES. HADLEY SAYS THIS IS AGE OF FAITH

Would Have Yale Seniors Exercise Intelligent Judgment in Forming Ideas of God

New Haven, June 20.—President Arthur T. Hadley told the seniors of Yale University, in his baccalaureate sermon in Woolsey Hall yesterday that they must exercise an intelligent private judgment in forming their ideas of God. He said that the present was an age of faith in God and man, and warned the members of the graduating class against the increased chances of error which he said had come with increased liberty.

"Thank God, gentlemen," said President Hadley, "that you are born into an age of faith, and into a land of faith. Many good people will tell you that this is an age when faith has decayed, an age when the human race has lost its belief in the things which are most necessary to its life here and hereafter. This is a wrong view. 'We have lost faith in some things, but we have gained faith in others; and the faiths that we have gained are greater in number and importance than the faiths that we have lost. We have lost faith in signs and portents and supernatural manifestations, but we have gained faith in certain dogmas and formulas once supposed to be essential to salvation. We have gained in 'their place faith in man, faith in the human mind, faith in the power of nature, and faith in the God of justice.'"

"We must not, indeed, disregard the feelings of those who were brought up in the older faith by unnecessary denial of their premises or disregard of their observances; but we must thank God that our faith rests on a surer foundation than the completeness of the evidence for this or that miracle or than the verbal authenticity of this or that Scriptural passage."

"But do we see straight? Do we face things as they are? With I could think that the world today is as sound of head as it is of heart. The thing for which there is a crying need among our people is not religion, but there are several classes of mistakes to which the present age is especially subject. Our faith in man is the greatest of our weaknesses, and which is neither intelligent nor Christian. Our faith in society may lead us to countenance the mistakes of the masses, and our faith in science may lead us to the point of scientific bigotry. Our faith that God is fighting on the side of right may blind us to the responsibilities that we ourselves have in that fight."

"There is no field—I say it reverently—which it is so necessary to combat. Intelligence with faith as in our idea of God. In former years we were bound down by creeds which described in God's name the things which we wished. You accepted Him as He was pictured in those creeds or you rejected Him altogether. Today we try to judge for ourselves regarding God's attributes and God's wishes. Of all responsibilities which go with the exercise of private judgment, this is the greatest."

"You call your God the God of justice; see to it that your faith takes shape in the things which would worship Him only by doing justice. You call your God the God of love; see to it that your faith is so shaped as to make you give love instead of merely trying to receive it. You call Him the God of battle; see that your trust in Him is an inspiration to you to take your part in the battles of life with courage and with intelligence."
